ASB Std 150, Standard for Determination of Medicolegal Significance from Skeletal Remains in Forensic Anthropology

#	Comenter's Name	Section	Type of Comment (E-Editorial, T-Technical)	Comments	Proposed Resolution	Final Resolution
1	Allysha Winburn	5	T	Do we need to stipulate in 5 (Conformance) that the evidence required to demonstrate conformance must be "objective"? All arguments about the existence of objectivity aside, is there a type of "subjective" evidence that would not qualify to demonstrate conformance? And if so, what would that be?	Can we just say "evidence" without the qualifier???	Accept with modification: Conformance section removed.
2	Steven Buyers	Bibliography	From CB ballot	However, I do want to register a strong objection to the removal of the Bibliography from this document. I feel that the committee should provide some sources that typify the methodological recommendations defined in the standards document.		Reject: The document never had a bibliography (so nothing was removed) and the committee feels it is appropriate without one.
